

Flying Fox: Glide Out Over the Batoka Gorge

DURATION30 Minutes*FROM*USD 69 per person*MINIMUM*3 travellers

A horizontal cable run out over the Batoka Gorge, flown face down and arms out rather than seated. No drop and no freefall, which makes it the most approachable of the gorge activities and the best one for a first time.

Itinerary

1

Harness and position

Zimbabwe

You are fitted into a harness that suspends you horizontally rather than upright, which is what gives this activity its name and its feel. The crew explain the position: face down, arms out, look ahead rather than down.

2

Launch

Zimbabwe

You run off the edge rather than step off it, and the line takes you immediately. Because the cable is close to level there is no stomach drop, so people who have ruled out the bungee and the swing can usually do this one comfortably.

3

The glide

Zimbabwe

A smooth flight straight out over the gorge, flying rather than falling, with the Zambezi below and an uninterrupted view down the length of the Batoka Gorge. Short, but the clearest view of the gorge of any of the cable activities.

4

Return

Zimbabwe

You are brought in at the far side, unclipped and walked back. Often booked as the first activity of a combination day, because it settles the nerves before the swing or the bungee.
